RICHARD NEW BARN BURNS LAST NIGHT

LOSS ESTIMATED AT FROM $4,000 TO $5,000

GARRETT LOSES FLOAT

Expects to Rebuild but New Barn Will Not be as Large as One That Is Destroyed

The barn of Richard New, a half-mile north of the Garrett School house was burned late last evening with a loss estimated at from $4,000 to $5,000. A part of the loss was that of from 60 to 70 tons of hay, 800 bushels of oats, 200 bushels of seed wheat, most of the implements that are used on a 240-acre farm, a horse and a calf. There was a light insurance on the building and the feed.

Mr. New said this morning that he did not know how the fire started. He went to bed shortly after 8 o'clock and was awakened some time after 9 o'clock by the light from the burning building. It seemed to him that the fire started on the ground floor. When he saw it, it was breaking through the boxing and running up on either side of the hay mow. In the barn was a driving horse, a calf and two cows. Mr. New ran to the garage, a few yards distance from the barn, and shoved his motor car into the road and out of danger. He then entered the burning building and turned loose the two cows, driving them outside. He was not able to get the horse and calf out. The horse had not been turned out with the rest of the horses on account of Mr. News daughters, Galdys, a student in the State Teachers College, and Mildred, a student in the Maryville High School, having returned from town with him after the rest of the stock was on the pasture.

Most of the machinery that was lost was practically new, having been purchased last spring. Fortunately the grain and corn binders the wheat drill, the farm wagon and a few other implements were not in the barn.

The seed wheat that was lost was what Mr. New intended to use for seeding his crop this fall.

Mr. New said this morning that he intended to rebuild the barn and that it would be necessary to do it at once, as he was without a place to keep his stock, with the exception of such shelter as a hay barn and feeder that he has, will furnish. The barn that burned was 48x64 feet, but Mr. New says that he does not think that he will build the new one this large.

Mr. New was not the only looser in the fire. The float of the Garrett School, which was all ready to be brought to Maryville this morning to be used in the parade, was in the barn and was lost. The float represented the "Queen of the Harvest" and it is said that it would have been a strong contender for first place. Everything used on it was raised in the Garrett School district.

A large crowd of people from Maryville and the surrounding country gathered at the fire in a short time.

CHARGES MOTIVE POWER ARE IN BAD CONDITION

Railroad Equipment Is Declared to be Defective, President Harding Was Told.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Charges that the mechanical conditions of the railroad are such as "to constitute a menace to the traveling public," were laid before President Harding today by the general counsel of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The Counsel declares the railroads are disregarding the safety laws and are using defective equipment to a greater extent than the public knows. He asked the President to take steps to compel the railroads to observe the law to protect the public.

Cleveland, Oct. 11. — A constant stream of complaints dealing with bad condition of the motive power of the railroads are reaching the offices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen here, it was learned today. It is the largest number of complaints in its history, it was said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. DeLong of Raton, New Mexico, are visiting at the home of Mrs. DeLong's sister, Mrs. Eugene Ogden, and Mr. Ogden, south of Maryville. They arrived here last Friday.

PIG CLUB SHOW TO BE HELD SATURDAY, OCT. 21

Has Been Changed on Account of Harry Messick not Being Able to Do Judging

The Nodaway County Pig Club show will be held Saturday, October 21, in place of on Saturday of this week, it has been announced by Roy A. Kinnaird, county agent. The reason for making the change is that Harry Messick of Bolckow, who was to have judged the pigs, will be in Wyoming on business at that time and unable to do the judging. Another judge must be secured.

The show will be held in conjunction with the monthly sale of R. P. Hosmer at the Gray Pavilion, as the two together will attract a larger crowd than the pig show in itself.

BRUCE WAS GIVEN FOUR YEARS IN PEN

A RECORD MADE IN CIRCUIT COURT TODAY

CAUGHT ROBBING STORE

At Ravenwood at 2:30 This Morning, Sentenced at 1:30 and on His Way To Pen at 4:48 This Afternoon

A record for quick work was made today when William Bruce, who was caught robbing the Shunk & Milligan Drug store at Ravenwood at 2:30 o'clock this morning, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary by Judge Dawson in circuit court at 1:39 o'clock this afternoon and was on his way to Jefferson City in company of Sheriff Roach late this afternoon.

Bruce pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny in court this afternoon. He said he came to this country about sixteen years ago from Scotland and was in Canada about twelve years. He stated his wife made a visit back to Scotland and while there she died, and since that time, about four years, he has been tramping around over the country.

While in the act of robbing the Shunk & Milligan drug store in Ravenwood at 2:30 o'clock this morning, William Bruce was caught by Night Watchman R. H. Bradley of that town. Bruce had broken the glass in the front door of the drug store and had then unlocked the door. He had taken $4.90 in small change from the cash register, leaving only 10 cents in the register. The breaking of the glass in the front door was heard by Night Watchman Bradley, who was only one-half block away at the time. He went to the store, found the door opened and then turned on the lights and caught Bruce.

Bruce was brought to Maryville early this morning by Sheriff Steve Roach and he is now in the county jail. He is 56 years old. It is not known whether he has ever been in trouble before. He is a stranger to this part of the country.

CORONER AND POLICE SAY BRAMBLE TOOK LIFE

An Inquest Will Be Held Later—Body in Chump of Shrubbery

Special to Democrat-Forum.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—With a bullet wound in his head, the body of William R. Bramble, 27, of Maryville, Mo., was found yesterday beneath a chump of shrubbery in an isolated part of Golden Gate Park here. Near the body was an automatic pistol. In the man's clothing were papers and cards which established his identity. The police and Coroner T. B. W. Leland are convinced that death was the result of suicide. A coroner's inquest will be held later.

Bramble registered at the Argonaut Hotel on September 29, giving his home address as Maryville, Mo. Hotel attaches said he kept to himself and apparently had no visitors. There was nothing among Bramble's personal effects to indicate why he should end his life.

ASSIST MISS CARPENTER AND MISS LEET TODAY

The following girls assisted Miss Katherine Carpenter and Miss Elizabeth Leet of the home economics department of the Maryville High school today in serving cocoa at the court house square to the School Day visitors: Pauline Eckert, Margaret Louise Hosmer, Mary Coe, Gertrude Garrett, Blanche McMillan, Myrtle Frazee, Minnie Evans, Dorothy Dow, Mildred New, Roberta Cook, Katherine Remus, Roxey Tarpley and Opal Taylor.

GRAY GETS FIRST IN CORN SHOW

CLEARMONT SHOWS UP WELL IN PREMIUM LIST.

IS A FINE DISPLAY

Worth the Time of Any Man, Woman or Child to Stop by and See—To Be Sold Saturday.

The awards in the corn show of the Farmers Trust Company were announced this morning and Everett Gray of Clearmont won first place and John Wolfe of Clearmont second. There were 109 entries. The other eight of the ten prizes were won by the following: Third, John Blackburn, Parnell; fourth, Fay Pence, Clarmont; fifth, George Ripley, Clearmont; sixth, Sam Ripley, Clearmont; seventh, Guy Plummer, Burlington Junction; eighth, French Brown, Burlington Junction; ninth, Stanford Pence, Clearmont; tenth, Floyd Ambrose, Barnard.

The prizes ranged from $10 down to $1.00.

The following received honorable mention:

Ross Scott, Maryville; T. H. Acklin, Graham; Edgar Pence, Clearmont; Orville Nicholas, Graham; S. A. Wiseman, Hopkins; Abe Merrill, Maryville; Harry Hartness, Pickering; J. R. Carmichael, Pickering; C. C. Myers, Parnell; Marion Curry, Clearmont; Elmer Froyd, Conception Junction; H. F. Thompson, Conception Junction; Wilson J. Nicholas, Maryville; Noah Duncan, Quitman; J. T. Latimer, Pickering; Robert L. McGinness, Maryville; R. L. Noblet, Maryville; Ernest Wray, Maryville; James Vert, Maryville; Orville Nicholas, Graham.

Six of the ten prizes went to farmers in the vicinity of Clearmont. The farmers in that vicinity have been giving special attention to the development of a high type of seed corn and the results are shown in the awards of the show. There were but ten entries from Clearmont.

The show at the bank has been a big success and has attracted a great deal of interest. It is such a good one that it is well worth the time of any man, woman or child, regardless of whether he lives in town or the country, to go in and see. The entries will be left on display until Saturday.

In addition to the corn there is a large display of fruit. No awards were made on this but all the exhibits brought in were carefully handled and placed on display. The fruit will be given to the St. Francis Hospital Saturday and the corn will be sold at auction and the proceeds thereof turned over to the hospital.

The show was held at the bank because it happened at this time of year that a great many fine samples of corn are brought in. There has been no regular place for them before. When the show was announced a small rack was arranged for the corn. This was soon filled. A larger rack was built and it too was filled. Then a great many samples of fine fruit were brought in and a table was built for this. S. H. Kemp, of the Farmers Trust Company, said this morning that the show had surpassed anything that had been expected of it.

WHIPPOORWILLS WIN FROM WHIRLWINDS 9 TO 6

First Game of Series This Morning and Second Will be Tomorrow Afternoon

The first of the city series of baseball games, between boys of the Maryville Schools, was played at 9 o'clock this morning at the State Teachers College and resulted in a victory for the Whippoorwills of 9 to 6 over the Whirlwinds.

The batteries were: Whippoorwills—Shriver and Sherlock; Whirlwinds—Armstrong and Ferritor, Godsey and Smith.

The second game of the series will be played at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. If the Whippoorwills win it will probably close the series but if they do not the boys say that the determining game will be played Friday.

Mr. Pew married Miss Maysie Pittman, who before her marriage frequently visited in Maryville with the C. Q. Smith family.

EDITORS ARE TO MEET HERE MONDAY

DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER MEN TO HOLD MEETING

DINNER WILL BE GIVEN

Senator Reed and Other Speakers Will Be Guests at Dinner at 6:30 O'Clock

A meeting of the Democratic editors of the Third and Fourth Congressional District has been called for Maryville on next Monday evening, October 16, by the Democratic State Committee. This meeting will be held in connection with the Democratic rally to be held that evening.

All of the Democratic newspaper men over the district have been invited to attend. A meeting will be held at the Linville hotel that evening at 5 o'clock, this meeting to be followed by a dinner at about 6:30 o'clock at the hotel. Senator James A. Reed, Judge John I. Williamson and William E. Spratt will be present at the dinner. After the dinner the party will attend the meeting to be held in a tent, probably on the Kelly lot on East Third street.

Col. George Scruton of the Sedalia Democrat and president of the Democratic State Press association, will be in attendance at the meeting of editors Monday. Col. Scruton was a candidate for United States Senator two years ago, being defeated for the nomination by Breckinridge Long.

The Democratic speaking will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Chairman Dan R. Baker of the county committee will preside.

COAL FACT FINDING COMMISSION TO MEET

To Perfect Plans for the Most Thorough Investigation of the Industry.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Seven members of the President's coal fact finding commission were summoned today to meet here next week to perfect plans for the most thorough investigation of the industry ever attempted by a governmental agency. The investigation will be complete from production to consumption.

PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE MAY RESIGN SOON

A General Election Will Probably be Held in Great Britain Before Christmas.

London, Oct. 11.—A general election will be held in Great Britain before Christmas, declared the Chronicle, the official mouthpiece of Premier Lloyd George, today. The Chronicle says it is possible the premier may resign before parliament convenes late this month. Austen Chamberlain, government spokesman in the House of Commons, would become acting premier on the advise of King George to dissolve parliament and to call an election.

MEETING AT THE DAVIS SCHOOL IS POSTPONED.

Dr. T. J. Eagle announced today that the meeting that was to have been held Friday evening at the Davis school house for the purpose of organizing White Cloud township for the tuberculosis tests for cattle has been postponed on account of the condition of the roads in that vicinity and on account of the teachers being at the teachers meeting and unable to attend. He said that the meeting would be held next week and that announcements regarding it would be made later.

Home From Excelsior Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Corwin returned last night from Excelsior Springs, where they spent two weeks. They made the trip in their car.

FLOAT PARADE IS MOST WONDERFUL

SEVENTY-EIGHT SCHOOLS MAKE ENTRIES

WORDS ARE INADEQUATE

School Children Form a Second Parade That Took Place at 3:30 O'Clock

The best parade ever seen in Maryville and perhaps the best ever seen in Missouri, outside of the larger cities, took place shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon when seventy-eight floats representing a like number of the rural schools of the county paraded on the streets of the city. A committee member told a member of the staff of St. Louis Star last night that he need not expect to be able to write a story that would in any way do justice to parade for is simply could not be done. One could not realize what the parade was to be unless he saw it. And the committee member was right. The parade was worth coming miles to see.

Teachers and pupils of their schools and patrons of the districts have been working for days getting the floats ready and they accomplished wonderful results. Nothing short of days of labor and planning on the part of several persons would have made some of the floats.

The parade showed up well the agriculture products of Nodaway County and the things that are done in its schools. It showed also the progressiveness of the teachers and the members of the boards and the patrons in the efforts they made in attempting to put forth a display that their district or any other district could be proud of, and if possible a display that would outrank any that any other school in the county could get up.

The parade was headed by the ex-service men of the county, followed by the combined bands of Nodaway County and the members of the G. A. R. post, the latter riding in nice new motor cars.

Following are the schools and a brief description of the floats in the parade with the teachers' names:

Commonsense School, Frank Barr, teacher, depicting the school name with little school house in the center and all the products of a "Commonsense School."

Union Valley, Maymie M. Bird, teacher, float displaying the agricultural floats of the district including fowls an' everything—the old district school in the center of the float.

Unity, Beulah Russell, teacher, "The Rural Queen," displaying all the fal products of the district and a trailer with two Shetland ponies in the rear.

Glendale, Paul Smith, teacher, "When the Frost Is on the Pumpkin and the Fodder's in the Shock." A good farm display in addition to the poem picturization.

Lasher, Lola O'Day, teacher, depicting 1776 with log cabin made of corn with coon on top and a spinning wheel; then 1922 with Lasher's best products.

Lone Valley, Merl Britton, "Corn Is King," with most everything made of corn, including a flag of corn with red ears and gold ears set in blue field.

White Chapel, Hattie Hutchinson, teacher, "American Health Means American Wealth," a health crusade float showing the children in all of the different health costumes.

Liberty, Wilbur Williams, teacher, "The Little Red School House," a reproduction which contained the desks, posters, vitalized agriculture and other

Other Officers Are Howard Leech and Lloyd Weller—All Masonic Students Eligible

The Masonic Club at the State Teachers College held a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the year. Those chosen were as follows: President, Ralph Palmer; vice-president, Howard Leech; secretary-treasurer, Lloyd Weller.

The club was organized near the end of the summer term of school. It is a purely social organization and all master masons in the College are eligible to membership. The members plan to have a representative on the student council.

The members of the club plan to visit one of the Masonic blue lodge meetings in a body some time soon.

PROGRAM BEGINS WITH BAND MUSIC

DE MOLAYS GIVE EXHIBITION DRILL THIS MORNING

CROWD IS IMMENSE

An Important Feature Is to Come Tonight in the Stunts of High School at Court House

This Evening's Program

7 P. M.—Special programs of music and stunts by the high schools of the county on a platform in front of the courthouse.

Motion pictures of the calf club show in St. Joseph.

The program for the first Nodaway County School Day started shortly after 11 o'clock this morning when the combined bands of Nodaway County formed at the First Methodist Church and marched north on Main street to Fourth street, playing as it went. The band then gave a short concert and marched back to the church, where dinner was served the members by the ladies of the First Methodist Church.

Following the band concert the drill patrol of the De Molays gave an exhibition d[illegible] on Main street between Third and Fourth streets.

Throughout the morning the crowd gathered until by the time of the first parade, which came shortly after 2 o'clock, there were enough people to line the route of the parade for blocks. Standing room both on the walks and in the street was at a premium on Main street from Third street to the Maryville Motor Company.

While the crowd was assembling the floats were rolling into town or being brought out from the places where they had been made in Maryville. They were taken to the Franklin school, where they were gotten ready.

The judges are working on the prizes for the floats of the parade. Twenty-five awards are to be made in all. The winners are to be announced by President Uel W. Lamkin of the State Teachers College as soon as the judges have finished.

One of the main features of the School Day will come this evening when the high schools of the county put on their stunts at the big platform that has been erected at the northwest corner of the courthouse square. Fifteen high schools are to be in this and they are to compete for prizes for the best stunt.

The films of the calf club show calves that were taken in St. Joseph by Ralph Marcell are to be shown.

SHOEMAKER'S BARN ON FIRE

The Shoemaker barn on East Third street was on fire at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. The fire had gained such a headway that it is expected to destroy the building. The barn was used for the wagons and teams of the Shoemaker & Bovard Transfer Co.

Harold Tebow Enters College

Harold Tebow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Tebow, 409 West Third street, has received his honorable discharge from the navy after a four years service. He returned to Maryville last Friday evening and has enrolled as a student at the State Teachers College. For two years during the late war he served on a destroyer off the coast of France.

Visiting at Eagle Home

Mrs. Rose Pettit of San Francisco, Cal., is here for a week's visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. T. J. Eagle, and Dr. Eagle. She arrived in Maryville last Saturday night.

MUST EVACUATE THRACE AT ONCE

ARMISTICE SIGNED IS PURELY MILITARY AGREEMENT

IS THE CRISIS PAST?

Greeks Are Reported to be Burning Villages in Their Flight from the Country

London, Oct. 11—The Greek government was formally notified today that the Allied proposals regarding Thrace are in effect and that they require the Greeks to begin evacuating all Thrace east of Maritze river immediately. Final arrangements for the Near East peace conference at Scutari are being made. That the British government regards the crisis past was shown when Lloyd George left for his country estate this morning.

London, Oct. 11. — The armistice agreement signed by the Allies and the Turks at Mudania is purely military in character and has nothing to do with the Near East peace conference that is to follow, Rechad Bey, the Turkish Nationalists envoy at London declared today.

Athens, Oct. 11.—The Greek authorities in the Near East today are working hastily to get all Greek Christians out of Eastern Thrace and Constantinople before the Turks move in and menace their lives.

The Greek consulate at Constantinople has already issued thirty thousand passports for Greek citizens. Greek residents at Constantinople are reported fleeing.

London, Oct. 11.—Greek exodus from Thrace was marked by conflagrations and pillage, a Sofia dispatch today said. Sixty villages were reported pillaged and burned by the Greeks in their flight.

London, Oct. 11.—The British government today sent a note to Russia denying the Turkish straits being blockaded. Moscow recently protested against the blockade at Dardanelles and Bosphorus, claiming Russian merchant ships have been denied passage.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS IN SESSION THIS MORNING

Discuss County Unit Bill and Are to Campaign for the Measure

Ten county superintendents of the Northwest district of Missouri were in session this morning at the State Teachers College discussing school problems. Miss Grace M. Shepherd of the department of rural education at the College presided at the meeting. They discussed plans of how to get trained teachers in the rural schools.

A campaign for the county unit bill to be voted at the November election was discussed. The county superintendents are to make an effective campaign for this measure.

The superintendents thanked President Uel W. Lamkin for calling the meeting to discuss school problems.

The county superintendents in attendance are:

Mrs. S. V. Grebe, Atchison County; Leslie G. Somerville, Nodaway; Mrs. Lou P. McAdam, DeKalb; Miss Hallie Burton, Daviess; Earl C. Duncan, Albany; F. N. Carter, Harrison; Norty Lilley, Holt; Miss Edna Craven, Worth; Miss Gertrude Fulcher, Platte; Miss Elizabeth Brainerd, Grundy; and Fred Roach, Buchanan; Mrs. Allie Wilson, Mercer county.

Mrs. Vada Halley is visiting her daughter, Miss Lois K. Halley at Trenton. Miss Halley is principal of the Trenton high school.

KILLING FROST TONIGHT.

Weather Observer J. R. Brink received a warning this morning that there would be a killing frost this evening.

THE WEATHER

Fair and cooler to-night with frost; Thursday fair with moderate temperature.

CHANGING POPULAR HABITS

Many business people fail to achieve success, because they conceive that the people have certain fixed habits that can not be changed. They think that as trade always has gone in a certain direction, it will continue to do so. So they lie down on their job.

But popular habits are not thus fixed. They are constantly changing under the impulses of new suggestion. The custom of knitting by women might be considered as an example. For merely knitting was regarded as a more or less old fashioned habit. Old ladies were supposed to knit, but for young women it would have seemed queer.

While the war had a lot to do with re-establishing the habit of knitting, yet advertising also was a big factor in it. Today you see a great many women, old and young, diligently plying their needles. Not knitting socks, suspenders and wristlets any more but sweaters, scarfs and even dresses. Magazines and newspapers remind women and girls of the pretty things they can make with their own hands by the use of colorful yarns. The result has been to popularize the custom again. The knitters are reminded that they can not merely make the warm articles that our grandmothers used to turn out for cold weather wear but they can create light weight things fitted to any season. Thus the habit spreads from one to another, and these bright colored garments become an attractive feature of the modern woman's outfit. Advertising had a large share in creating this tendency.

In the same way the popular habits of buying goods can be changed in any direction. The merchant who finds that he is not getting his share of trade has probably not done anything to help shape the buying habits of the people of his town. Probably he has not attempted to interest buyers from the surrounding country, who now go elsewhere to trade, but who would just as soon come to his place if he would make an effort to interest them.

Training Camp of Scoutmasters

Scoutmasters from all countries in the world are gathered at scout headquarters, Gilwell park, Essex, England, where they are undergoing a course of training in preparation for increased international activity in the coming year. Above is pictured an aerial ropeway with monkey bridge in the background. Below, the owl patrol at lunch. All camp equipment is made by the scoutmasters themselves, and their knowledge is in turn imparted to the boys in their various patrols.

The fate of the Yankees in the world series is a good example of what usually hapens when all the players think they can run the business better than the boss and proceed to try it.

It isn't long now until the seventh day of November when every man and woman, not legally disabled, will be expected to go to the polls and register a vote for a United States Senator together with a state and county ticket. Come to the speaking Monday evening, give Senator Reed and the other speakers a respectful hearing and weigh the arguments presented.

A lot of people think they are wearing silk nowadays who are not, just as they are fooled in a number of ways. American manufacturers have invented a machine that makes artificial silk from the cellulose of wood pulp, and the annual production now exceeds 15,000,000 pounds. It is a good product and wears well so the consumer is not cheated in that. It is a marvelous little machine that duplicates the delicate work of the silk worm and the silk makers of Japan have cause for alarm.

Jack Scott's work in New York last week presents a good lesson for men generally. Scott is a ball pitcher and his arm "went bad." He was traded to another club along with other dead ones to the Cincinnatti club which later on released him. Three months ago he was out of a job, had been discarded as a dead one and of no further use in baseball. Nobody thought anything of him but he hadn't lost confidence in himself. He believed he could come back. He told Manager McGraw of the New York Giants about it. McGraw listened to his story and agreed to have his arm treated as Scott was broke. Nothing further was known about Scott until he was put in to pitch against the Yankees in the world's series. The Yank followers heaved a sigh of relief. They thought McGraw had decided to let that game go. From what followed it was evident that neither McGraw nor Scott had any such ideas. The lanky man with the "glass arm" pitched a masterful game and made the high priced Babe Ruth look like thirty cents. Scott has not only come back but he is the hero of the series. All of which shows that a man may be down but that doesn't mean that he is out.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH IN STRAW FIRE

Sweetwater, Tex., Oct. 11.—Leaving their two small children in a wagon, the father and mother, together with other Mexican laborers, went to the cotton fields near here Friday. When they returned they were horrified to find that during their absence straw in the bottom of the wagon box had in some mysterious way become ignited and the children were burned to a crisp.

MANY WINDOWS ARE DECORATED

USE GOODS FROM STOCK AND OUT-OF-TOWN PLANTS.

A FARM PRODUCT MAN

Much Effort Has Been Put Forth by Business Men in Making Town Look Well.

Most of the windows in Maryville are decorated for School Days and much originality has been shown in them. In most cases the stores have chosen foliage or out-of-door plants for decoration purposes. Some of the merchants have chosen things from their stock for the purpose of making up the designs of the display.

One of the unique examples of this is at the Chas. Buhler grocery. Red and yellow apples have been arranged so that the word "Welcome" stands out in yellow against a red background. The South Side Bakery has also worked its products with a nice window display.

But speaking of unique displays, the Shoemaker-Bovard company has a whole man made up of farm products. He is not a very big man but you ought to go see him. His head is a cabbage and his body a pumpkin. His legs are formed by sweet potatoes and his toes by pepper pods. At his knees are sets of onions and his arms are formed of cucumbers and bananas. On his head is a turban made of a blade of corn and lettuce leaves. As to clothes, well, he must be a Hawaiian, only in place of having a skirt of grass he has one made of blades of corn.

The H. L. Raines jewelry store has a window decorated with autumn leaves, buck bushes and long rows of red haws on strings.

The Cushman Music House window is decorated with leaves and features a graphophene with the cylinder records and long horn like we used to hear.

The Townsend retail grocery store has an attractive display of fruits and other things appropriate to autumn.

One of the show windows of the Remus Mercantile Co. is attractively decorated with Nodaway County products. Corn, apples, vegetables and other products are arranged in an interesting manner.

The Schumacher Grocery Co. window is also decorated with fall goods. Vegetables and fruit are in abundance and autumn leaves are also used. A little cider keg and a glass of the drink makes an attractive feature.

The Price Furniture Co. has its window divided into two rooms. One, a living room, is filled with beautiful furniture, artistically arranged, and the other, representing a bedroom, is likewise well done.

The window in the Hanamo Telephone office is filled with autumn leaves and in the center a large doll is seated on a chair talking over a telephone.

There are a lot of other nice windows and the merchants of Maryville have been complimented on their efforts in making the town attractive for the day.

Halloween Social

A Halloween social and entertainment will be given Friday night, October 13, at the Bedison church.

Forumettes

You can rest assured
That the people who
Are superior are the Ones who don't know it.

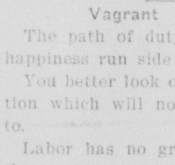
Simply because a Maryville man or women wears a smart hat is no sign the head is not ivory.

Perhaps the reason the average man is a liar is because he is unable to accomplish the wonders he wishes to.

There are some auto drivers who will not be satisfied until they are able to drive their cars down the sidewalk and run over pedestrians and smash up baby buggies, the cop on the corner observed to us the other day.

Speaking of old time things a reader of Forumettes writes to the editor to inquire if he remembers the time when every Maryville family had a caster in the center of the dining table.



Uncle Abner says the man who does the most usually is the fellow who makes the least noise.

The sheik craze has hit the country so strong that we are getting the sheik mixed up in nearly everything. Now the latest with the flappers is the sheik sets consisting of a ring, broach and earrings with a sheik's head engraved in the coral. Friend Rudolph surely started something when he put that desert character on the silver sheet.

It was not so very long ago we were asking what had become of the itinerate peddler. Well! he is back in full force. A main street woman told us the other day that last Saturday she answered the door bell nineteen times and could have bought anything from a magic scouring powder to a copy of a book exposing the inner life of Hollywood.

Perhaps the reason so many Maryville men talk to themselves is because they wish to hear something they can believe.

Our friend at a cigar counter says the five-cent cigar is doing a good job of coming back although a large number of them still are sticking around in the ten cent boxes.

If more Maryville people had a chicken coop in the back yard where the garage stands there would be less complaint about the high cost of living.

Vagrant Musings.

You better look out for the proposition which will not bear looking into.

Labor has no greater enemy than the working man who will not work.

There is something wrong with the small boy who says he likes to go to Sunday school.

Sage Advice.

THINKS GOLF WILL REPLACE BASEBALL

British Champion Points to Increasing Interest in Game in America

London, Oct. 11—"Golf will soon outdo baseball as the national game of the United States," said Cyril Tolley, British champion golfer, returning to England after his American trip with the team of British golfers.

"America has a wonderful collection of absolutely first-class young players," said Tolley, "and they completely outputted us.

"The United States has numbers of young golfers, still in their teens, who are already masters of the game and who are still improving with assiduous practice. In fact, many of these young men are fully the equals of Bobby Jones, the boy wonder, and they will be heard of in the world's championships."

Although Tolley has a wonderful admiration for American putting, he thinks that American golfers are "more plucky than brilliant" and that they would be far less deadly on British greens.

"All the American greens," he says, "are artificially watered and are usually soft, and this has more to do with the American pitch shot than any ribbed clubs.

"Undoubtedly the weather had a great deal to do in the determination of the results, but we are satisfied that we played our best. It is always hard to play in another country.

"Nothing could have exceeded the magnificent hospitality and the fine sportsmanship of the American players. We are looking forward to, and hoping for, another big American invasion in the British championships in 1923."

BURTON DECLARES CANT MADE READJUSTMENT

Washington, Oct. 11.—Complete readjustment of the 11 billion dollars allied debt cannot be worked out while the United States holds one-half of the world's available gold supply, Representative Burton of Ohio, member of the debt funding commission, declared today. Burton anticipates part of the country's gold reserve will be gradually returned to Europe as private banking interests have arranged to float international loans and gold payments are made for imported European goods.

TEACHERS WALK OUT AT COLLEGE

AND IT DIDN'T ANGER THE STUDENTS ONE BIT

HOLD PEP ASSEMBLY

Was in Preparation for the Game with Peru, Neb., that is to be Held Friday

The teachers at the College "walked out" today at noon. This was done in a spirit of revenge to get even with the student body, which walked out last week. However, it was a funny kind of revenge. It did not make the members of the student body the least bit angry and they seemed glad indeed to allow their instructors to abandon their classes for the afternoon.

The regular weekly assembly at the State Teachers College was turned over to a mass meeting this morning for the purpose of generating some pep for the football game with Peru Normal here Friday.

The bottle of pep was brought forward and all of a sudden the cork flew out. The bottle was uncorked and never before was such a meeting held.

A committee from the faculty composed of E. W. Glenn, E. A. Maynor, E. W. Atkinson, H. T. Phillips, and Miss Mary MacLeod, had been appointed and a program was given. The first thing on this program was a talk by Coach Maynor. In his talk he assumed all the blame, if there was any, for the two defeats of the football team. However, from the way the students clapped at some of his statements there was no blame to be taken.

Next Prof. E. W. Glenn explained something about the game of football for the benefit of those who were not acquainted with the game.

Mr. Phillips, in a short talk, announced that there will be a parade of the student body, led by a band, at 2:15 o'clock Friday afternoon for the purpose of generating more pep for the game with Peru.

Miss MacLeod made a few remarks and then the assembly was turned over to Professor Atkinson who explained the matter of season tickets to the football games.

Fred Conners ,the cheer leader, next took the floor and shortly after it began to shake with the yells of the student body. Old yells and new yells alike were shouted from the throats of three hundred or more students and the walls fairly shook.

Then the body divided into the four classes and they began to vie with one another to see which could yell the loudest or the longest. Finally the whole group began to sing and to mill around the assembly hall.

Forming into a line the students marched out of the room into the hall and then formed a mass of yelling humanity again.

ROBEY TO GIVE TIME TO STATE COMMITTEE

Will Leave Friday Evening for St. Louis—Will Meet With County Committees.

Arthur S. Robey will leave Friday evening for St. Louis, where he will be connected with the Democratic State headquarters. Mr. Robey received the following message from O. W. Hackworth, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic State Committee:

"If you can give us a week or ten days in our state work, please come to state headquarters in the Central National Bank buliding in St. Louis Saturday, October 14, at 10 o'clock a. m., for conference. Will want you to meet with county committees in your district."

TEXAS GIRL RAISES PRIZE-WINNING HOG

Vernon, Tex., Oct. 11.—Young Miss Lorell Dobbins, fifteen years old, daughter of a prominent farmer, living at Oklaunion, near here, takes the back seat for nobody when it comes to "raisin' hogs." She exhibited a 450-pound Poland China porker at the Wilbarger County Fair, which carried off first prize from ten competitors. And, to make it more interesting, the other entries were all from old experienced farmers.

Elm Grove, Iva Gillespie, teacher, a large float bringing the "Spirit of Halloween" with ghosts, witches, pumpkin faces and plenty of decorations.

Fairview, Ruth Miller, teacher, a float depicting the school name, a fairview school with a little school house and everything blending into the scheme.

Lafayette, Ruth Miller and Florine Allen, teachers, a general autumn display of agricultural products with characters from the Mother Goose Rhymes.

Blackman, Hazel Moore, teacher, "Corn Is King" and surely it was, judging by all the different things made from corn on this float.

Royster, Cecil Howell, teacher, School as a Home; portraying the work of the home with the washing on the line and canning fruit season on.

Excelsior, Edward Turner, teacher, a small but neat coupe float entirely covered with excelsior to carry out the name of the school which it represented.

Douglas, Mrs. Vest Buck, teacher, "Hawaiian Islands," a float having everything to be seen on these islands from bananas on the stalk to Hula girls and "Uks."

North Grove, Ada L. Lawson, teacher, a float of agricultural products of the district with a huge stuffed fowl in front of the float.

Myrtle Tree, Gertrude Horton, teacher, "The Road of Life," showing the children as they first start into the country school and all the way until they are settled into different vocations of life; also the district's farm products.

Pleasant Valley, Donald Strader, teacher, "The First Thanksgiving," showing the Pilgrims and Indians of this time; a motto on float, "No Real Honor Without Work."

Baker, Mabel Chapman, teacher, a float depicting the school and a generous display of the agricultural products of the patrons of the district.

Carter school, Hildred Burke, teacher, a neat float completely covered with a color scheme of pink and white with a huge bell to complete the scheme.

Tarpley, Etoil Smith, teacher, an agricultural float with all kinds of products and the slogan, "We are the Best Farm Products."

Knabb, Grace Tebow, teacher, "The Busy Workers," a float showing a garden scene with all the children working in garden and singing the song of the same name.

Highland, Mrs. Thelma Proctor, teacher, a patriotic float showing Uncle Sam and the Goddess of Liberty well placed in a decorative surrounding.

Fryar, Merlin Warhime, teacher, "The Rewards of Autumn," with all of the fall's products and fairies and goddesses in white and gold costumes.

Lyle school, Mary McCurry, teacher, a huge horn of plenty and plenty it was, for everything imaginable was to be found coming from the horn.

Hagey, Ruth Jones, teacher, "Horn of Plenty," a decorative float with the Goddess of Liberty and the ear and girls entirely covered with corn husks and boys with overalls and hoes.

Pioneer, Ruth Green, teacher, with a clever picturization of the name of the school in an old covered wagon of the pioneers.

Commonsense, Mrs. Kahla Ford, teacher, "King of Fruit and King Corn," showing the apple as king of fruit and corn as the ruling kings of Nodaway County.

Ireland, Iva Hartness, teacher, "Horn of Plenty," another good portrayal of the proverbial horn of plenty with the color scheme of yellow and white carried out.

Wilcox, Nellie Hall, teacher, "Nodaway County Products," a huge float headed with small ponies in blue harness and six white horses carrying a large float of farm products.

Gaynor, Eulalia Kysar, teacher, "The First Thanksgiving," showing the Pilgrims and Indians of the bygone days when the Puritans first offered thanks.

Black Oak, Helen Shipps, teacher, "The Eskimos," showing the snow covered home and surroundings and natives of the ice bound country of the far north.

Highland, Mrs. O. K. Busby, teacher, "Penn's Treaty With the Indians," a good characterization of this historical event.

Foster, Kyle Graham, teacher, "Boosting Agriculture,' with the best that the district had.

Olwell, Esther Wells, teacher, a float of the school with children on ponies representing school books.

Mowry, A. G. Dempster, "Husking Bee" all the children at work husking corn.

White Cloud, Anna Sue Gill, "Nodaway Yesterday and Nodaway Today," showing the comparison of the two times.

Morgan school, Elizabeth Shamberger, "To California in 1849," a clever float showing the rush for gold in '49.

Union, Nell Cannon, teacher, "The First Thanksgiving," and "Union School," a two division float, both well pictured.

Rockford, Rose Shumabargar, teacher, a comparison of the log cabin of the early day and the horn of plenty of 1922.

Maple Grove, Meryl Shamberger, teacher, "Waiting for Santa," a nice Christmas scene with fireplace and Christmas tree.

Im. Conception, Sister Rita and Sister M. Patricia, "October," spelled out by each letter with all of her products.

Scudder, Eugene Rathbun, teacher, an elaborate picturization of the old school house of 1820 with the hard benches and then the modern school of 1922 with all equipment.

Xena, Audrey Birkenholz, a big float containing all of he ragricultural products.

Mt. Ayer, Marie DeNeen, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin and the Fodders' in the Shock," by Riley.

Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Flossie Tanner, "The Horn of Plenty," with the Goddess emptying the horn to everyone.

About 3:30 o'clock the children of the schools of the county started on their parade, headed by the ex-service men and the band. It seemed that most of the schools of the county were represented in this. The schools that had floats got their children and put them in the parade and there were a large number of children from schools that did not have floats.

J. L. LaSource of Kansas City, who is with the Liggett & Myers tobacco company, was in Maryville today in the interest of the Polo cigarettes.

BRITISH STUDYING MOTORLESS PLANES.

Not Seriously Considered Yet as Dependable Means of Transport.

London, Oct. 11.—The British Air Ministry is making comprehensive experiments in the art of gliding.

Following investigations spread over the last five years the Ministry has now sent representatives abroad to study the successes of France and Germany in this direction.

Ministry authorities state that, apart from design and construction, the glider's success depends upon atmospheric conditions, the contour of the land and skill in piloting. Unless all these conditions are favorable prolonged flight, at any rate so far as the covering of definite distance is concerned is not possible in the present stage of the art.

Accordingly, the Ministry precludes gliders from being a dependable means of transport. The analogy of sailing ships, which are known to sail by making use of prevailing winds, cannot be applied to gliders, because they rely almost entirely upon vertical winds to enable them to ride in the air and can only use the prevailing winds of ship navigation to advantage after a certain height has been reached.

TILTON HAS A REAL POLICE FORCE TODAY

A Large Number of Specials on and at 2:15 O'Clock no Accidents Had Been Reported

Notwithstanding the fact that one of the largest crowds ever, is in Maryville today there had not been an accident up to 2:15 o'clock. This is quite a compliment to the "strong arm of the law." One would naturally expect that with so many people in town there would likely be some sort of an accident.

Chief of Police E. E. Tilton, who has for a long time had the title of Chief, but has had no force under him, should be in his glory today because he is the head of a series of nine "cops." Possibly because there are so many officers there has been nothing out of the ordinary.

The men who are working as police today are Chief Tilton, Ed Wallace and special policeman England, Keef, Phipps, Barco, Oxford, Willoughby and Porter.

While the parade was going on this afternoon the members of the De Molay drill patrol policed Main street from Third to Fourth. They kept the crowd back of the lines and assisted greatly in maintaining the order of the crowd.

REVIVAL MEETINGS AT GAYNOR ARE MEETING WITH SUCCESS

The revival at the Gaynor christian church is progressing fine with four additions at the first sermon. The meetings will continue all next week. The sermon subjects for next week will be: Sunday morning, October 15, "Steps Unto Heaven;" Sunday evening, "The Wonderful Father;" Monday evening, "Are you ready for the Judgment;" Tuesday evening, "The Great Decision We Must Make;" Wednesday evening, "On What Foundation Are You Building;" Thursday evening, "The Successful Sermon That Was a Failure;" Friday evening, "Eternity and Where Will You Spend it;" Saturday evening, "The Conversion of an Infidel;" Sunday morning, "The Way That Is Right and Cant be Wrong;" Sunday evening, "What Are You Waiting for."

Don't fail to hear these sermons. They are worth while and will do you good. We are expecting a delegation from Isadora Friday evening of this week.

Home Ec. Department Maryville High School Furnishes Cocoa

Cocoa was served today at the court house square to thousands of school children by the home economics department of the Maryville High School, under the direction of Miss Katherine Carpenter and Miss Elizabeth Leet, who are teachers of the department. The boys of the agricultural department of the school under H. G. Tilley, furnished the milk for the cocoa. Miss Lucile Airy has charge of the commercial department and Loren J. Schnabel of the manual arts department.

Among other things it is the purpose of the Maryville High School to foster and promote vocational training of the boys and girls who pass in and out of its doors. To this end several vocational subjects have been provided for in the curriculum. Students are brought face to face with the selection of a life's work and the then directed to the course which meets their need. Commercial courses are provided for those desiring to become stenographers and bookkeepers. The mechanical arts department offers opportunities for those who wish to prepare to be carpenters and draftsmen. The vocational home economics and the vocational agriculture affords training in home-making and agricultural pursuits. The vocational home economics department is one of the best equiped in the state. Fifty-one girls are enrolled in the department and are learning the principles of home management, preparation of foods, and home nursing. Some of their problems are caring for and managing the home for a definite period of time, selection and purchasing of the family's food supply on the basis of the "budget system," designing and making their own clothing, and an intensive study of materials with the idea of economical selection in view.

The vocational agriculture boys are given thorough practical training in animal husbandry, feeds and feeding, farm crops and soils, poultry culture, and the construction of farm buildings. The idea of training the boys to become practical farmers is the governing factor in this department. Such problems as culling poultry making concrete fence posts, feeders, gates, hog houses, farm butter making, killing and curing of home meats will be considered. Such farm problems as the growing of a crop of corn or a crop of soy beans have been followed during the summer months. The most efficient and economical method is always sought in all of their undertakings.

CHILLICOTHE GAME HAS BEEN POSTPONED UNTIL SATURDAY

ECONOMIC AND LAND DISARMAMENT MEET

Japan Anticipates President Harding Will Call a Conference Soon

Tokio, Oct. 11—Official Japan anticipates President Harding will call soon an economic and land disarmament conference, it was learned today. Informal discussions for the conference have progressed so far that Japan is ready to accept the invitation to such conference whenever it comes.

Officials are manifesting a great interest in hints from Washington of the possibility of such a step. Japan believes hints are informal feelers for this country's attitude toward such a movement. It is also known the foreign office and finance department are in close consultation.

Five Reasons Why You Should Buy Kewpie Twins

1. Shaped right, plenty of toe room. Extension edge sole protects upper from hard wear.
2. Double Strength at toe cap. Sole Leather box under tip. Will not break down.
3. Smooth inside. Nothing to hurt tender little feet. Made with three full flexible soles running from heel to tip.
4. "Juvenile Strongwear" linings that wear longest, protecting stockings and giving shape to the shoe.
5. Sole Leather counter—soft and pliant—yet tough and strong. Extension sole around heel.

You may have these shoes rebuilt at the factory by experts and returned, postage paid for

Any shoe bearing the above trade-mark will be rebuilt—better than repaired—after the first period of usefulness is past.

Rebuilt—these shoes give same wear as when new and look practically as nice. You secure the wear of two pairs for little more than the price of one.
